

Memo from JOSHUA LEDERBERG

To:

Bernie Davis ↙

2/25/89

Waksman award
Dear Bernie

I was very pleased to see notice of this in NBS news.

Plainly the award is for a career that goes far beyond the citation; and I am very pleased to see you are properly recognized for that.

Yours,
JL.

Selman A. Waksman Award in Microbiology, a prize of $5,000 to be awarded to Bernard D. Davis, Adele Lehman Professor of Bacterial Physiology, department of biology and molecular genetics, Harvard Medical School, for "ingenious development of the penicillin technique for isolating mutants and his leadership in its application to microbial physiology."

... → 2/27/89

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG